DIC-TLS-001: Tangkhul Tui Dictionary

Alternative Title: Tangkhul Word Dictionary

Lexicographer / Compiler: N. Luikham | Year: 1997 | Publisher: Tangkhul Literature Society, Ukhrul

Language Pair: Tangkhul-English | Dialect: Ukhrul | Type: Dictionary

Permission Tier: RESTRICTED | License: Copyright Tangkhul Literature Society

---

Historical & Lexicographical Background:

Compiled by prominent educator and linguist N. Luikham and published by the Tangkhul Literature Society (TLS) in Ukhrul in 1997, this dictionary is the standard contemporary lexical authority for the Tangkhul community. It documents tens of thousands of contemporary, ceremonial, customary, and cultural vocabulary

Phonological & Orthographic Framework:

Standardizes contemporary Tangkhul spelling as endorsed by the Tangkhul Literature Society. Preserves indigenous compound words, ceremonial terms from traditional

---

Representative Lexicon & Extracted Headwords (12 items):

1. ngasung (noun): wild walnut root, tree used for communal river fishing stun (...
2. yarra (noun): youth festival, spring clearing feast, youth society gathering ...
3. chumpha (noun): granary festival, post-harvest soul of paddy rite (p. 48) -- ...
4. lengcheng (noun): crossed roof-horns, gable horn ornament of traditional elit...
5. maran (noun): feast of merit, status elevation cycle, sacrificial generosity ...
6. yarnao (noun): peer labor exchange collective, youth mutual work group (p. 22...
7. longshim (noun): traditional youth dormitory, village clan learning house (p....
8. haora (noun): traditional black and red striped shawl, prestigious male mantl...
9. luirim (noun): ceremonial woven shawl, mantle adorned with geometric spearhea...
10. hangva (noun): village council of elders, customary governing body, village s...