DIC-WUNG-001: Tangkhul (Wung) Dictionary (Tangkhul-English)

Alternative Title: Tangkhul Wung Dictionary

Lexicographer / Compiler: T. Luikham | Year: 1974 | Publisher: Tangkhul Literature Society, Ukhrul

Language Pair: Tangkhul-English | Dialect: Wung / Standard Tangkhul | Type: Dictionary

Permission Tier: RESTRICTED | License: Copyright Tangkhul Literature Society

---

Historical & Lexicographical Background:

Compiled by respected cultural scholar T. Luikham and published in 1974 in Ukhrul by the Tangkhul Literature Society. It is one of the definitive mid-20th-century bilingual lexicons, focusing specifically on classical 'Wung' (the traditional literary and poetic dialect of the Tangkhul heartland). Contains extensive entries

Phonological & Orthographic Framework:

Integrates traditional Ukhrul literary spellings with colloquial expressions, providing invaluable etymological insight into compound words formed through

---

Representative Lexicon & Extracted Headwords (10 items):

1. wungram (noun): homeland of the Tangkhul (Wung) people, ancestral territory (...
2. okthot (noun): traditional lifeways, human conduct, living culture (p. 175) -...
3. shiyan (noun): customary jurisprudence, ancestral code of justice (p. 230) --...
4. manom (noun): customary bridal endowment, dowry cattle and property (p. 142) ...
5. yarnao (noun): mutual peer labor group, youth reciprocal agricultural team (p...
6. hamlei (noun): black serpentinite cooking vessel, Longpi stone pot (p. 95) --...
7. leshong (noun): serpentinite rock, pottery stone crushed for durability (p. 1...
8. chonkhom (noun): women's embroidered ceremonial wrap, prestigious textile (p....
9. seichan (noun): handwoven skirt with geometric colored bands (p. 215) -- Ex: ...
10. ngasung (noun): wild walnut root used for river fishing (p. 160) -- Ex: Ngasu...