[LIT-POEM-003] Shirui Kashongwui Won

Translation: Flower of Mount Shirui

Work Type: POEM | Creator: T. Luikham | Year: 2021
Village: Ukhrul | Dialect: Standard Tangkhul | Book ID: BK-TLS-008
Publisher / Source: Tangkhul Literature Society, Manipur
Clearance: Educational Curriculum | Permission: permitted | Status: verified

---

Themes: Ecological ode and celebration of the endemic flora, Metaphorical pairing of the lily with indigenous feminine modesty and virtue, The

Structure & Meter: Lyrical ode in rhymed quatrains with rich sensory imagery evoking alpi

---

Critical Overview: Written by pioneer educationist and lexicographer T. Luikham and anthologized in Class X Tuitam Kathara (2021), this ode is

---

Indigenous Tangkhul Literary Text / Stanzas:

Kashong yarsho-li Philavawui won, delicate pink-white bloom kachara,
Windswept crest-li proud thada shoka, nature-wui rarest jewel lakahon.
Nawui modesti kala quiet majesty, Tangkhul shanao-wui virtue thada pama,

---

English Translation & Literary Rendering:

Upon the jagged ridge of the peak blooms the lily of Princess Philava, t
Standing proud against alpine winds, celebrated as nature’s most preciou
Your modesty and quiet majesty reflect the graceful virtue of Tangkhul m

---

Key Poetic & Literary Vocabulary Terms:

* Kachara : Delicate, tender, and exquisite blossoming
* Kashong : Mountain crest / pinnacle summit
* Modesti : Quiet, dignified modesty and humility