[LIT-TRNS-002] Kristianwui Khangaran: Pilgrim’s Progress in Tangkhul

Translation: The Pilgrim’s Progress Tangkhul Translation

Work Type: TRANSLATION | Creator: Tangkhul Christian Literature Commi | Year: 1953
Village: Ukhrul | Dialect: Standard Tangkhul | Book ID: None
Publisher / Source: American Baptist Mission Press, Imphal
Clearance: Mission Historical Publication | Permission: community_authorized | Status: verified

---

Themes: Allegorical spiritual pilgrimage and moral steadfastness,
Linguistic localization of European prose allegory into mountain idioms,
Structure & Meter: Full-length allegorical novel translated into fluent classical Tangkhu

---

Critical Overview: Published by the Tangkhul Christian Literature Committee in 1953, this work served as the premier literary novel read in Tangkhul

---

Indigenous Tangkhul Literary Text / Stanzas:

1953 kumli John Bunyan-wui Pilgrim’s Progress ’Kristianwui Khangaran’ hi
Christian character-na City of Destruction-li ngathur-da Celestial City-
Tangkhul novel, moral allegory, kala 20th-century religious prose style-

---

English Translation & Literary Rendering:

In 1953, John Bunyan’s immortal allegory The Pilgrim’s Progress was publ
Depicting the arduous spiritual pilgrimage from the City of Destruction
This monumental translation exerted an indelible influence on 20th-centu

---

Key Poetic & Literary Vocabulary Terms:

* Khangaran : Spiritual pilgrimage / steadfast journey through t
* Kristian : The pilgrim / faithful seeker
* Varewui-Ram : The Celestial City / the heavenly kingdom